(6) Young Marines Higher Headquarters Billet Descriptions

1. Purpose. To provide guidance on how to implement and use the new Young Marines Billet System (YMBS). Each billet provides an opportunity the Young Marine to develop as a leader, hone their leadership style, foster an environment for personal growth, maturity, and self-confidence, and allow for one on one mentorship at their specific level. The YMBS provides the commander an opportunity to guide, mentor, and provide feedback to each Young Marine assigned to a billet.

2. Intent. The intent of the YMBS is for each Young Marine billet to no longer be viewed as merely a check in the box, but as an opportunity for the Young Marine to gain value from serving in the billet. The YMBS provides tasks, duties, and a purpose that will teach Young Marine valuable skills that will benefit the individual both in the Young Marines program and in life. The YMBS moves us forward and exemplifies our motto of "Strengthening the Lives of Americas Youth."

3. Standard. The new billet process has three criteria that may or may not affect each billet. Some criteria will have leeway for commander's discretion, other criteria will be set in stone and will only be adjusted and or waived for extenuating circumstances.

- a. Eligibility. Each billet states within the description what the eligibility requirements are and what billets Young Marines of a certain rank are permitted to hold. Deviation from the eligibility requirements is not authorized and should not be entered into the database. However, some billets have a clause to allow for certain situations in which a Young Marine who is not eligible may hold the billet. However, the clause is specific to which rank is permitted to have the billet entered into the database. Keep in mind that erroneous billet entries can hinder future unit evaluations, Young Marine of the Year eligibility, leadership school eligibility, and SPACES eligibility.
- b. Duties and Tasks. Each billet has duties and tasks associated with the billet and its entry. Billets are not complete until the billet's task are completed, and the Young Marine has been counseled on their performance. Lower level billets consider age. However, the tasks and duties become more dynamic past the platoon level. Young Marines should be judged by the rank and not their age past the platoon level. Commanders have the discretion to determine if the tasks were complete based upon the Young Marine's performance.
- c. Time Period. Some billets have a time period associated with the billet. This is because some tasks take time to complete and be effective. The only exceptions are Higher Headquarters billets that are associated with an event. It is assumed that commanders will consider the time when planning multi-unit events so event staff have the appropriate amount of time to plan the event, which will satisfy the billet's time requirement.

4. Billet Classification. To simplify how many billets can be held, we have classified billets into two categories: Leadership Billets and Operational Billets. Leadership Billets are billets that are designed to deal with Young Marines directly. Operational Billets are those designed to deal with the Young Marines indirectly. Young Marines may hold only one Operational Billet at a time. They also may only hold one billet classified as a Leadership Billet at a time. However, Young Marines may hold one Leadership Billet and one corresponding Operational Billet at the same time. For example, a Young Marine may be the Young Marine First Sergeant and the Young Marine Training Chief, but they may not be the Young Marine First Sergeant and the Unit Gunnery Sergeant.

a. Billet Classification Chart.

Leadership Billets	Operational Billets
Unit Young Marine Team Member	Unit Color Guard Member
Unit Young Marine Team Leader	Unit Color Sergeant
Unit Young Marine Assistant Squad Leader	Assistant Recruit Instructor
Unit Young Marine Squad Leader	Recruit Instructor
Unit Young Marine Platoon Guide	Unit Young Marine DDR Chief

Unit Young Marine Platoon Sergeant	Unit Young Marine Administrative Chief
Unit Young Marine Platoon Leader	Unit Young Marine Public Relations Chief
Unit Young Marine Gunnery Sergeant	Unit Young Marine Community Service Representative.
Unit Young Marine First Sergeant	Asst. Training Chief
	Young Marine Unit Training Chief Executive Officer Assistant

4. Evaluations and Counseling. Each billet requires formal or informal counseling and a leadership evaluation before the billet is completed. Taking a unit's time into consideration, we have provided a simplified form to guide the conversation during the counseling session. The session should include a Young Marine within the billet holder's chain of command and an Adult Volunteer. We have also provided guidance on scoring performance through a leadership evaluation form. The evaluation and counseling should remain in the Young Marine's physical record book. The score that resulted from the process should be entered into the database once the evaluation has been completed in the database. Keep in mind that billets are not visible in a Young Marine's record book until they are completed.

- a. Considerations. Questions billet evaluators and counselors should consider while going through the process are the following:

LEADERSHIP: Integrity, Responsibility, Accountability	DISCIPLINE: Does the right thing, in the right way, for the right reasons	TEAMWORK: Dedication to mission. Devotion. Always makes a positive impact
Leads by example	Does the right thing even when unpopular or difficult	Shows enthusiasm in being a Young Marine and inspires others
Always upholds the reputation of the Young Marines (24/7)	Holds others and self-accountable to Young Marines standards	Demonstrates situational awareness and sound judgment
Seeks responsibility and accepts responsibility for success/failures of Young Marines	Takes ownership of difficult situations even if beyond the scope of regular duties	Is prepared for Young Marines activities
Respects self and others	Admits to shortcomings and mistakes	Sharpens common Young Marines skills
Maintains a high level of emotional stability	Obeys all lawful orders and regulations given by superiors	Pursues professional development
Maintains a high level of physical readiness	Refuses to participate in inappropriate behavior	Acts responsibly in the use and care of equipment

Does the right thing when no one is looking	Takes ownership of and seeks assistance in dealing with difficult personal situations	Accomplishes tasks promptly, no matter what the conditions
	Assists subordinates in taking on difficult personal situations	Provides for support and welfare of Young Marines
	Always obeys the rules as set forth by the Young Marines program	Acts responsibly during recreational activities
		Avoids alcohol abuse and has zero tolerance for drug use
		Looks after the welfare of other Young Marines
		Develops action plans, takes needed steps to minimize risks

5. Tasks. Commanders are encouraged to use their discretion in areas that have not been covered within this guidance. Headquarters can only provide general training to set the standard. Unit Commanders must provide training that fits their unit's culture; however, how units operate culturally must not circumvent the standard set by Headquarters Young Marines.

- a. Unit Commanders. Unit Commanders are responsible for creating an environment where the unit can thrive, and where Young Marines can grow. Unit Commanders are also the authority who approves and disapproves evaluations and scores based on recommendations from the chain of command. Unit Commanders have the discretion to fill billets within the limits of the policy set forth by Headquarters Young Marines.
- b. Higher Level Commanders. Higher level commanders are the authority that approves and disapproves billet evaluations, scoring, and entry on their level. Higher level commanders are responsible for delegating the entry and awarding of billets and subsequent awards on their level. Commanders are responsible for consistently filling the billets not associated with events and giving the opportunity for all Young Marines within the appropriate command to fill the billets. Commanders are encouraged to schedule higher level events so Young Marines can complete the higher-level billets.

6. Approval. This guidance was reviewed and approved by the National and Deputy Director on 03/11/2019. Previous billet documentation is no longer valid and should be disregarded. The database has been updated to reflect the new billets. The previous billets that have been completed will remain in the record book. New manual and guidebook updates will reflect the latest information.

Last Name	First Name	MI	Grade	Platoon	Duty Assignment	Date

Unsatisfactory:
 This category is generally for a Young Marine who knows the correct thing to do but chooses to do what is not correct. A Young Marine who has most likely been scolded for an inappropriate infraction. This category can also be a Young Marine who is afraid to step out and do what is right.

Above Average:
 A Young Marine who excels past the average and shows they are not afraid to step out of their boundaries. However, this should not be based on anything that is a skill such as PFTs, drill, or test taking. The exception is the Young Marine who shows tenacity in not giving up on weaknesses in these areas.

Below Average:
 A Young Marine who has fallen short of what a Young Marine of their current rank should know. A Young Marine who also understands what should happen but chooses to do otherwise. This can include a lack of knowledge, confidence, and willingness to do task associated with their billet and rank.

Excellent:
 A Young Marine who goes over and beyond normal duties. This Young Marine is not necessarily the most motivated Young Marine but the Young Marine who shows a clear positive distinctive presence in a particular area.

Average:
 A Young Marine who does not stand out but does not get into trouble. The average Young Marines is based off the caliber of students that rank attending the leadership school and based off the prior knowledge required for a Young Marine of that particular rank.

Outstanding:
 Although this score should be almost unobtainable, this Young Marine has completely demonstrated a high level of understanding of the scored leadership trait. If they have not yet, they are on the way to mastering the trait.

- A Platoon Leader must have a comprehensive list of promotions and awards ready for the Unit Commander upon request.
- After a Platoon Leader attends a Unit Commander meeting, they will have taken notes and set aside time to go over them with their Platoon Sergeant.
- At the end of their term, the Platoon Leader will set down with their Platoon Sergeant and Training Officer to go over recommendations and accommodations of the Platoon Sergeants term.

Unit Young Marine Gunnery Sergeant

To hold the position of Unit Gunnery Sergeant, a Young Marine must be a YM/GySgt in good standing in the unit. This position IS required for YM/MSgt promotion. In a unit there is only one billet of Unit Gunny. While holding this billet, the Young Marine must complete and carry out the following tasks, in their three-month duties as Unit Gunny, to receive credit towards their YM/MSgt promotion.

1. Duties and Responsibilities of a Unit Young Marine Gunny are:

- a. Retention – In this role, they are responsible for trying to keep Young Marines in the program. If they suspect a Young Marine may be thinking of leaving the unit, they should set time aside to sit with them and find out what it is that is driving their decision. It may be something legitimate like work or sports, but it could also be a problem with someone else in the unit that can be fixed and retain that Young Marine.
- b. Promotion Boards – Unit Gunny may sit on promotion boards. When a Young Marine has been selected for promotion, a promotion board will be scheduled. As the Unit Gunny, they will assist the Unit Executive Officer with any needs that they may have in conjunction with this process.
- c. Promotions – When promotions are in order, it is the responsibility of the Unit Gunny to arrange the promotion, call those being promoted forward, read the promotion warrants, and post the recipients after the promotions take place.

PROMOTION REQUIRMENTS FOR UNIT GUNNY:

- A Young Marine will hold this billet for a three-month term.
- The acting Unit Gunny will create a retention initiative at the beginning of their term to be implemented during their time. At the end, they will go over this initiative with the Unit Commander to assess its effectiveness.
- The Unit Gunny will assist and organize, in conjunction with the Unit XO, all promotion boards as they arise.
- The Unit Gunny will organize and conduct, in conjunction with the Unit UC and Adjutant Officer, all promotion ceremonies as they arise.
- At the end of their term they will compile all notes, initiatives, and suggestions pertinent to their successors term.

Higher Headquarters Young Marine Billets

Battalion – Regiment Young Marine Sergeant Major

To hold the position of Young Marine Sergeant Major, a Young Marine must be a YM/MGySgt in good standing. This position is not required for promotion. While holding this billet, the Young Marine must complete and carry out the following tasks, in their three to six-month term, to receive credit.

1. Duties and Responsibilities of the Young Marine Sergeant Major are:
 - a. The Young Marine is responsible to their respective Commander and assists with mentoring all subordinate Young Marine Sergeant Majors.
 - b. The Young Marine schedules meetings for all the Young Marine staff at that level and runs the meetings with the assistance of the Young Marine First Sergeant.
 - c. Monitor all events occurring at that level and ensure the subordinate Young Marines are thoroughly informed.
 - d. Manage the Young Marine Staff at that level and ensure they are properly carrying out their duties to receive credit for their positions.
 - e. Monitor the rotation of the Young Marine staff positions and mentors them to ensure they maximize the learning experience.
 - f. Initiate recommendations to the respective Commander for matters pertaining to the subordinate Young Marines.

While performing the duties above as the Young Marine Sergeant Major, they are authorized to wear the Young Marines Sergeant Major insignia. Upon completion of this term (three - six months), they would revert to wearing the Young Marine Master Gunnery Sergeant insignia. The next Young Marine in line would then be given the opportunity to be the Young Marine Sergeant Major.

2. REQUIRMENTS FOR COMPLETION – YOUNG MARINE SERGEANT MAJOR:

- The YM/MGySgt must hold this billet for three – six months (Commander discretion depending on how many YM/MGySgt's are eligible to hold this position).
- Young Marine coordinates all Young Marine staff meetings, in conjunction with the respective Commander.
- The Young Marine Sergeant Major must sit down with their respective Commander, prior to the end of their term, and go over an AAR of what can be done in the future with the billet to better assist the battalion, regiment, or division.
- The Young Marine must also brief their replacement on all ongoing matters or events.

Note: The billet of Sergeant Major does not exist on the unit level. Young Marines on the unit level are prohibited from wearing YM/SgtMaj insignia (unless billeted in the position on the battalion, regimental, or division (DYMOY) level). If they are at a national event, they will wear their actual rank insignia and not their billet insignia. This excludes Division and National Young Marines of the Year, who keep their billeted rank until their discharge or retirement. Do not wear billet insignia to an event held by a command level higher than your billet.

The Division Young Marine Sergeant Major is the Division Young Marine of the Year (DYMOY) only. They carry out their duties as the DYMOY until the next years selections are made. In the case that the DYMOY retires or leaves the program early, the runner up from the DYMOY selection board will take their place. This is to be designated by the Division Commander only.

Clause: For levels that do not have Young Marines who are eligible to hold this position, the Commander has the discretion to fill the position by other means. A Young Marine Master Sergeant, who is an Advanced Leadership School (ALS) graduate, may hold the position for the time being. They will hold the billet and complete the requirements but will not receive credit until their YM/MGySgt promotion. Once they are promoted and receive credit, they do not have to hold the position again. This Young Marine is permitted to wear the Young Marines Sergeant Major insignia while holding this position.

When there are no Young Marines available of that rank, the Commander has the discretion to fill the position with the most senior Young Marine, by rank and age. If this Young Marine is a YM/MSgt and SLS graduate and below, they will not receive credit for the billet. They will only be allowed the leadership opportunity until an eligible Young Marine is available. This will mitigate any gaps in the Young Marine chain of command. The Young Marine will NOT be titled as the Young Marine Sergeant Major, as they are not permitted to wear the rank. They will be titled as the rank that they currently hold. (i.e. If a Battalion has a YM/GySgt as their senior Young Marine, they will be titled the Battalion Young Marine GySgt.)

Battalion – Division Young Marine First Sergeant

To hold the position of Young Marine First Sergeant, a Young Marine must be a YM/MSgt in good standing. This position is not required for promotion. While holding this billet, the Young Marine must complete and carry out the following tasks, in their three to six-month term, to receive credit.

1. Duties and Responsibilities of the Young Marine First Sergeant are:

- d. Assist subordinate Young Marine First Sergeants with creating retention and recruitment plans with goals to reach.

While performing the duties above as the Young Marine First Sergeant, they are authorized to wear the Young Marines First Sergeant insignia. Upon completion of this term (three - six months), they would revert to wearing the Young Marine Master Sergeant insignia. The next Young Marine in line would then be given the opportunity to be the Young Marine First Sergeant.

2. REQUIREMENTS FOR COMPLETION – YOUNG MARINE FIRST SERGEANT:

- a. The YM/MSgt must hold this billet for three – six months (Commander discretion depending on how many YM/MSgt's are eligible to hold this position).
- b. Young Marine assists Young Marine Sergeant Major with all Young Marine Staff meetings, in conjunction with the respective Commander.
- c. The Young Marine and the Young Marine Sergeant Major must sit down with their respective Commander, prior to the end of their term, and go over an AAR of what can be done in the future with the billet to better assist the battalion, regiment, or division.

Clause: For levels that do not have Young Marines who are eligible to hold this position, the Commander has the discretion to fill the position by other means. A Young Marine Gunnery Sergeant, who is an Advanced Leadership School (ALS) graduate, may hold the position for the time being. They will hold the billet and complete the requirements but will not receive credit until their YM/MSgt promotion. Once they are promoted and receive credit, they do not have to hold the position again. This Young Marine is permitted to wear the Young Marines First Sergeant insignia while holding this position.

When there are no Young Marines available of that rank, the Commander has the discretion to fill the position with the most senior Young Marine, by rank and age. If this Young Marine is a YM/GySgt and SLS graduate and below, they will not receive credit for the billet. They will only be allowed the leadership opportunity until an eligible Young Marine is available. This will mitigate any gaps in the Young Marine chain of command. The Young Marine will NOT be titled as the Young Marine First Sergeant, as they are not permitted to wear the rank. They will be titled as the rank that they currently hold. (i.e. If a Battalion has a YM/GySgt as their senior Young Marine, they will be titled the Battalion Young Marine GySgt.)

Event – Young Marine First Sergeant

To hold the position of Young Marine First Sergeant, a Young Marine must be a YM/MSgt in good standing. This position is not required for promotion. While holding this billet, the Young Marine must complete and carry out the following tasks, to receive credit.

1. Duties and Responsibilities of the Young Marine First Sergeant are:

- a. The Young Marine is responsible to the Young Marine Sergeant Major and assists with mentoring all subordinate Young Marines at the event.
- b. The Young Marine assists the Young Marine Sergeant Major with all Young Marine staff meetings for the event.
- c. The Young Marine works closely with the Training Chief and the Admin Chief to ensure all logistical items are on track in preparation for the event.
- d. The Young Marine First Sergeant is responsible for conducting all formations for every activity during the event.
- e. The Young Marine works with the Admin Chief and the Young Marine Sergeant Major in compiling all submitted AAR's for the event.

While performing the duties above as the Young Marine First Sergeant, they are authorized to wear the Young Marines First Sergeant insignia. Upon completion of the event, they would revert to wearing the Young Marine Master Sergeant insignia.

2. REQUIRMENTS FOR COMPLETION – EVENT YOUNG MARINE FIRST SERGEANT:

- a. The YM/MSgt holds this billet for all preparation and for the duration of the event.
- b. The Young Marine assists the Young Marine Sergeant Major with all Young Marine Staff meetings, in conjunction with the respective adult in charge.
- c. The Young Marine and the Young Marine Sergeant Major must sit down with the adult in charge, at the completion of the event, and go over a finalized AAR for the event of what can be done in the future to better such events.

Clause: For levels that do not have Young Marines who are eligible to hold this position, the Commander has the discretion to fill the position by other means. A Young Marine Gunnery Sergeant, who is an Advanced Leadership School (ALS) graduate, may hold the position for the time being. They will hold the billet and complete the requirements but will not receive credit until their YM/MSgt promotion. Once they are promoted and receive credit, they do not have to hold the position again.

When there are no Young Marines available of that rank, the Commander has the discretion to fill the position with the most senior Young Marine, by rank and age. If this Young Marine is a YM/GySgt and SLS graduate and below, they will not receive credit for the billet. They will only be allowed the leadership opportunity until an eligible Young Marine is available. This will mitigate any gaps in the Young Marine chain of command.
